Academic

Through the efforts of the faculty, the students lay the foundation for their future careers--learning that an education is much more than "readin', writin', and 'rithmetic."

Mr. Smith, principal, prepares to make the day's announcements over the PA system.

A versatile principal indeed! Between teaching students the "why's" of world situations in History and performing the infinite duties of a principal, Mr. Smith pinches time for operating his ham-radio--reaching even Russia????

School Board Members: W. Beree, W. Benninghoff, F. Laub, R. Crow, G. Akey, W. Morr, and J. Mason.

Secretary: Mrs. Laux

Superintendent: Mr. Clarence Bowers.

Janitors: Mr. Poper and Mr. Moore.

Cooks: Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Heyman.

Bus Drivers: M. Conine, D. Keller, L. Anthony, R. Davis, H. Murphy, and H. Goldsmith.

Mrs. Huddleston, home economics teacher, shows Imogene Nusbaum and Cynthia Wisler the perfect ending to a successful pie crust.

The department covered nearly every aspect of homemaking which included cooking, sewing, child care, and solving family problems.

Home Economics and Shop

The few leisure moments Mrs. Huddleston has between 4-H leader problems and sophomore class sponsor duties are spent at her Singer.

Indiana State Teachers' College is where she received her B.S. degree.

Bob Gick, Wally Graham, and Art Baughman are learning to apply the skills which Mr. Guinther has taught them in shop class.

The class provides training for a useful vocation in the future. Perhaps the boys will become very accurate with "Do-It-Yourself" projects in their own homes.

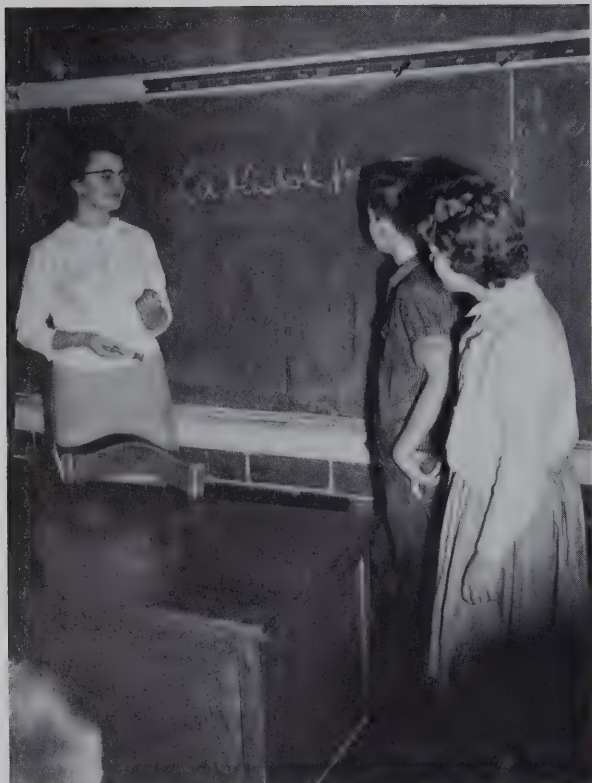

Prepare Us for the Future

Mr. Guinther, FFA sponsor, proudly displays a few of the plaques which the Riverdale Chapter recently won.

A graduate of Ohio State University, Mr. Guinther also sponsors the freshman class and the boys' 4-H Club.

Impressing the idea that in Spanish one learns to understand and appreciate a different culture via language, Mrs. Mann shows Jerry Renfrow and Sandy Miller proper Spanish sentence construction.

Language Studies Promote

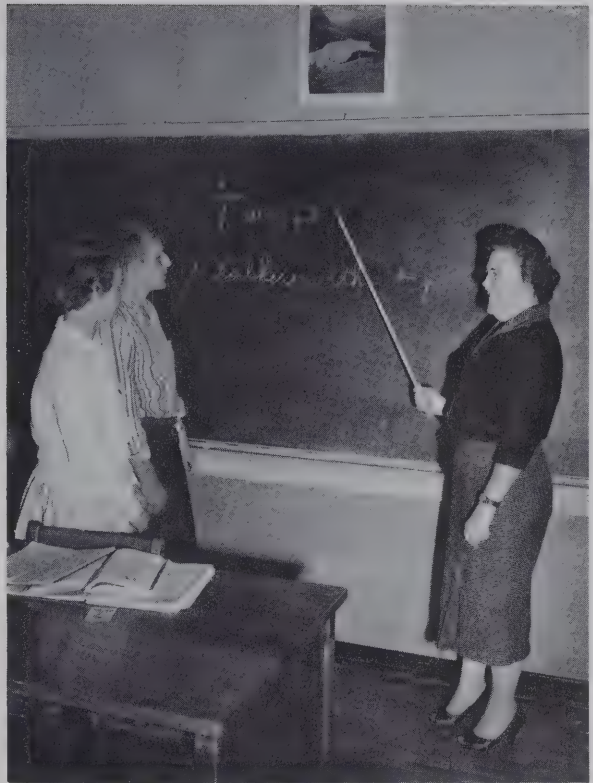

Mrs. Mann not only has lots of papers to grade, but is also the Beta Club and 8th grade sponsor. Before teaching, she attended Manchester College where she received her A.B. degree.

Mrs. Campbell teaches English students Darlene Timmerman and David Hubbard a new word, "TWOP," which is a Talker WithOut Permission.

Her main objective was to teach the students the parts of speech and their uses.

Variety in class work included a trip to the Fort Wayne Library.

Better Communications

A look of joy as Mrs. Campbell decided on the junior and senior class plays. She was kept busy as play director and 7th grade sponsor. Olivet Nazarene College is her Alma Mater for there she received her B.S. degree.

Under the direction of Miss Martin, the seventh grade physical education class learns the basic fundamentals and rules of volleyball.

Physical education provides an opportunity for the girls of Riverdale to participate in athletic activities.

Physical Education Provides

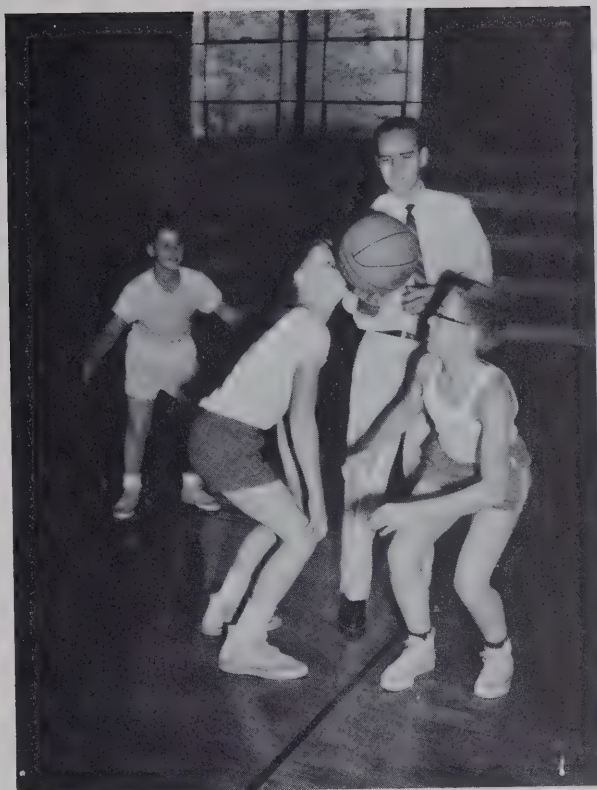

Miss Martin's cheerful smile stimulates her students before health class--or maybe history--or perhaps a Jr. class meeting.

At Purdue, where she earned her B.S. degree, Miss Martin was on the Lafayette Swimming Team, which she labels a favorite past time.

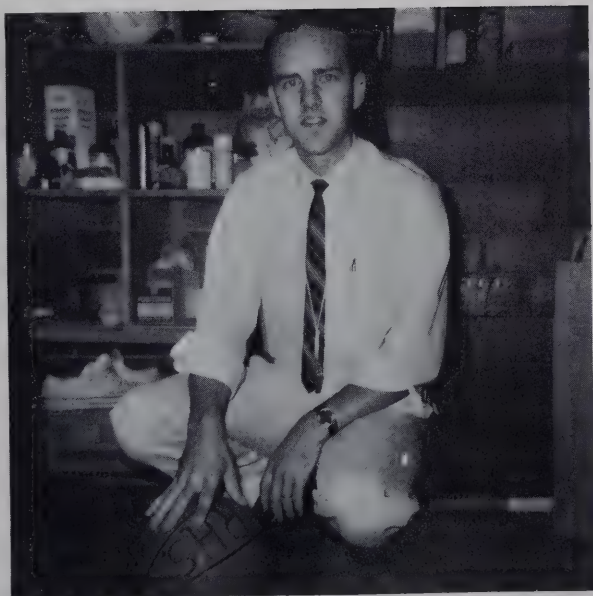

Will Gene get the tip?

Through seasonal activities such as basketball, baseball, and track, Mr. Zonker stresses the importance of teamwork and sportsmanship.

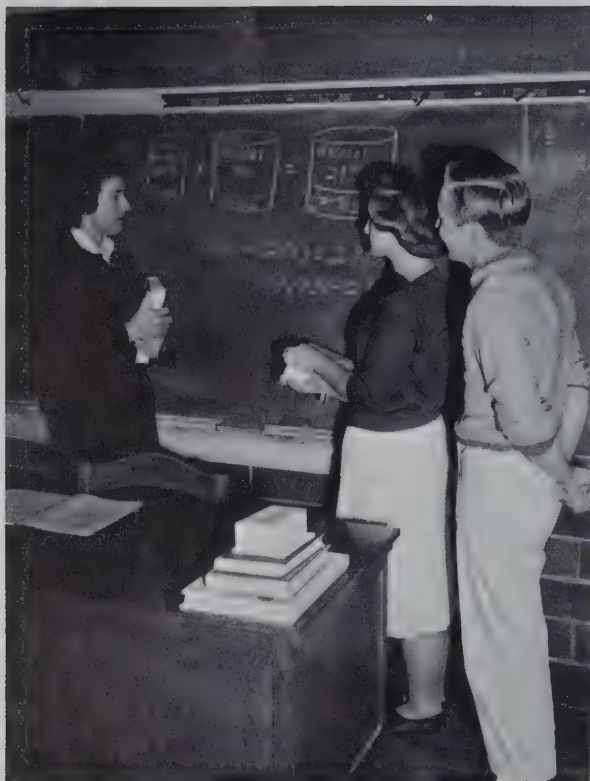

Athletic Opportunities

Quite often Mr. Zonker can be found in the Physical Ed. equipment room as he is assistant coach plus teaching science, Indiana history, and sponsoring the 7th graders.

Presently Mr. Zonker is doing graduate work at Ball State. We find this hard to believe with I.U. as his alma mater.

Alcohol + alcohol = alcohol?? John Baker smiles as Leota Schrader and Mrs. Fahl explain how to decrease the % of algebraic alcohol.

A basic math background must be mastered before venturing to the unknown. This foundation is being laid through Mrs. Fahl's advanced algebra course.

Mathematics for

Should I, or shouldn't I give him that "fifth mark?" No psychology courses at Taylor University, Kentucky University, or Asbury College could solve that problem!

Mrs. Fahl teaches junior high mathematics, algebra 1, and advanced algebra with sponsoring the Freshman class on the side.

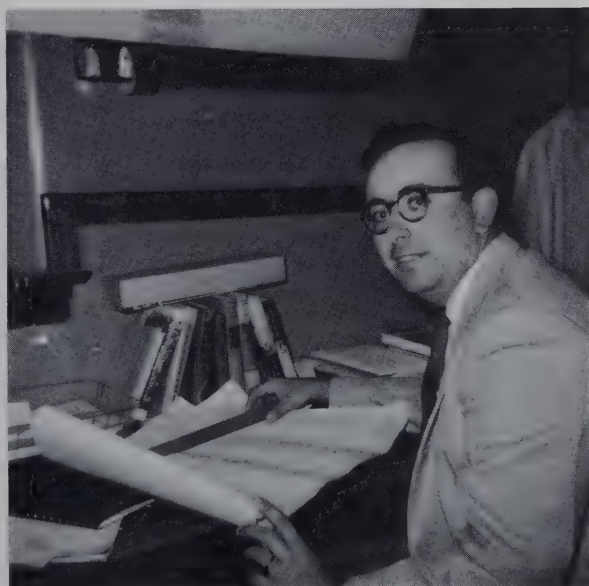

Mr. Hartung tries to explain an advanced math angle to Ronnie Smith and Paul Friend.

In his physics class, a main objective for the students is to learn basic laws which govern our environment and are static in future scientists' foundation.

Future Scientists

Although kept busy on the job with classes in general math, 7th grade arithmetic, physics, geometry, and sponsoring the sophomores; Mr. Hartung finds time to approve his new house plans. Evidently a B.S. degree at Anderson College includes lessons on what to do in your free time!

Mrs. Moser's typing I classes built the foundation for the second year course.

Pupils were taught to type accurately with speed. They also learned to skillfully type business and personal problems.

Commercial Courses Train

Outside duties for Mrs. Moser vary from keeping our mimeograph in "top" shape to sponsoring the seniors, pep club, and yearbook.

A B.S. degree from Ball State plus Carthage College education helped make her courses run smooth.

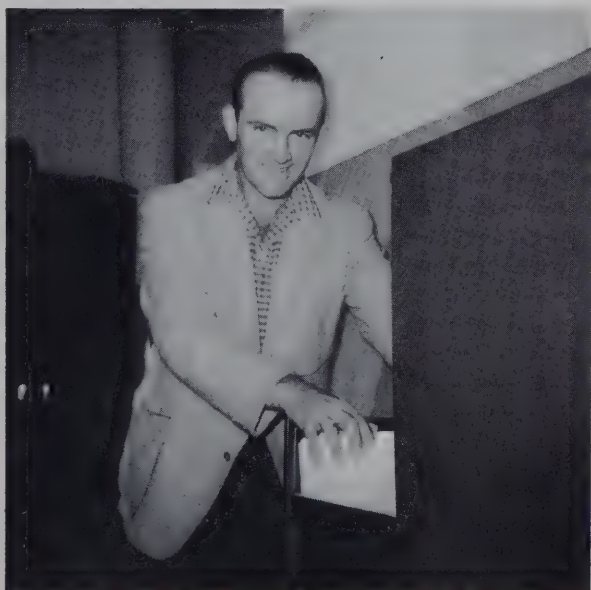

Carolyn Fogle and Mr. Hansen discuss the few exceptions to many new laws learned in our new subject--Business Law.

Mr. Hansen's biggest objective was to instill the importance of applying these laws daily.

Future Business Leaders

Another test being pulled out of the file! Students agree that Manchester College and the University of Chicago where Mr. Hansen received his B.S. and M.S. degrees, really taught him how to make a test.

Being junior class sponsor keeps him well occupied after hours.

Student Life

After school hours, Riverdale students usually are dancing to the latest records, having a gab session, or attending extra-curricular activities.

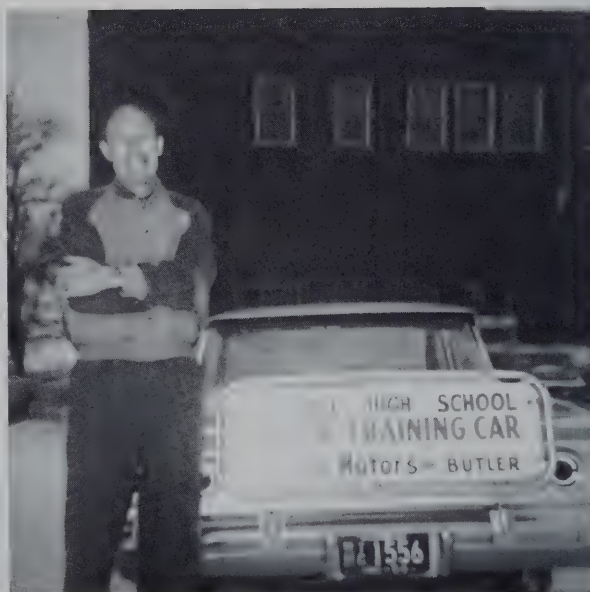

Wally Graham and Linda Lothamer learn the relationship of Indiana to the United States. This, Mr. Brookfield believes is essential in learning the government of each.

Juniors and seniors visited the State House to see congress in action, furthering their Indiana background.

History — Our Background

Beware when you see this car! Through Driver Training, Mr. Brookfield is hopeful of better drivers.

Before coaching basketball at Riverdale; he played pro ball with the former Anderson Packers and the Rochester Royals. At West Texas State he earned his B.S.; specializing in playing basketball Wrong notes bring a sharp look especially the day preceeding the Christmas concert.

Mr. Lowery conditioned our band for playing at home basketball games, parades, and contests by enforcing his strict merit system.

Music — Our Culture

A pause that refreshes! With band and chorus directing, Mr. Lowery keeps well occupied but by wisely budgeting time, he plays an oboe in the Fort Wayne Philharmonic Orchestra.

Ohio State University is his alma mater where he received his B.S. in Education.

Students Have Fun,

The long and short of it!

To each his own hair style!

Throughout the crowded halls of Riverdale appear the images of youth.

Bobs, bubbles, and bustle backs--crew cuts, flat tops, and butches frame the faces greeting each other daily.

With the variety of clothing styles, prodigees wear anything from formals and suits to sweat-shirts, bermudas, and argyles.

A glimpse of leisure pastime projects finds these energetic teenagers taking in a current movie or jitterbugging, strolling, and waltzing to the records of Ricky Nelson, Connie Frances, and the Everly Brothers.

"Going steady" is all the rage. Third fingers of left hands may appear with ear muffs, angora, or tape covered rings.

Skirts like teenagers have their ups and downs!

Boys, too, enjoy being dressed up.

Fads, and Fancies

These gals are going steady.

Hot rods ready for a drag!

The girls' fellows chauffeur them in customized cars complete with lake pipes, cruiser skirts, spinners, continental kits, and hollywood mufflers.

Having a lingo all their own, these teens cover everything from discs to dates.

Their diets of hot dogs, pizzas, potato chips, and cokes may seem impossible to MD's and their ideas of fun rather improbable, but they wouldn't be normal, healthy, American kids minus their high school fads and fancies.

Like all kids, the Riverdale students have as their daily objectives setting records--getting the most passes, talking the most in study hall, and "skipping steps" without being caught.

We could have danced all night at the Holly Rhythm Ball.

Afterwards we relaxed our tired weary feet.

The senior boys always have plenty of time to eat and eat and eat!

Juniors, Mary Vinson and Darlene McKown talk Ron Robinson into buying a candy bar.

And the band played on--at the home ball games.

Reverse situation: Photographer smiles for student.

As Jerry Dowden gets measured for his senior cap and gown, Paul Sechler says, "Will I ever make it?"

Seniors ham it up as they make like beatniks.

Before: Patiently waiting in the lunch line!

After: Filled plates; let's eat!

It's not as bad as we make it look!

School's out; and away we go!

Pale lights, soft music, and decorations set romantic mood!

All work and no play make Seniors dull kids!

"Isle Of

Highlighting the 1959-60 school year was the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom held at the Ft. Wayne Hobby Ranch House on May 14, 1960.

"Isle of Dreams" was the theme of the big event and required many weeks of long, careful planning and preparation.

As the long awaited occasion came closer to being a reality, the tension grew daily with classmates talking of "who was going with who", formals, corsages, and plans for an all night whirl.

Dreams

Joyce Fisher and Tom McKown were crowned queen and king of the Prom. Their grand court was Judy Waters, Leota Schrader, Diann Mayer, Linda Lothamer, Orval Wallace, Paul Friend, Bob Depew and Ron Robinson.

Feet aching, couples left the prom to enjoy a movie or several parties at private homes.

Climaxing the Cinderella night was a breakfast at the Spencerville Cafeteria. Food eaten, boys whisked their dates home and soon everyone tumbled into bed with majestic memories.

Girls' 4-H

The primary aim is to prepare 4-H girls for their future life. The projects include: clothing, crafts, food preservation, canning, room improvement, health and safety, baking, and Junior Leadership. Their activities include home applied demonstrations and county dress reviews.

The county fair gives all the girls a chance to display their finished projects.

Carol Baker and Sharon Kay Smith received trips to the State Junior Leaders' Conference by accumulating points which they earned by working on their various projects.

Carol Baker also received reserve grand champion at the county dress review.

Sharon Kay Smith received grand champion in room improvement and reserve grand champion in health and safety.

Boys' 4-H

The primary aim of boys' 4-H is to train farm youth to raise livestock and grain. The projects include: dairy animals, livestock, grain, handicraft, wildlife, and conservation. The activities consist of dairy and livestock judging plus demonstrations.

These youth prepare all year for the judging of their finished projects which takes place at the 4-H grounds in Auburn, Indiana.

Paul Friend won a trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado for the National 4-H Vegetable Convention and also a trip to Timonium, Maryland for National Livestock Judging.

Our livestock judging team placed 4th out of 21 teams at the state contest.

Gene Sible was awarded Reserve grand champion on his barrow. Sonny Nusbaum had the grand champion lamb.

Student Council

The officers of the Student Council are as follows:

President Frank Kessler
 Vice President Joyce Fisher
 Sect.-Treas Cheryll Collins

Their main business concern is in the paying of the bus drivers that drive the school's fan buses and players' bus to the many ball games of our exciting basketball season.

The group also decided on various entertaining and educational programs that were held in the gymnasium for the benefit of the student body as well as the faculty.

Two outstanding programs were General Motors Science in Progress and a dramatic performer who enacted the role of Abraham Lincoln.

Co-editors Jerry Dowden and Kay Halt smile as Mrs. Moser proofreads the material for the final deadline.

Riverian Staff

Members of the Riverian Staff were confronted with problems--including the mechanics of producing a yearbook as well as salesmanship. Drawing layouts, cropping pictures, and writing adequate copy were all a part of meeting monthly deadlines.

The staff sent co-editor, Kay Halt to Indiana University for two weeks during the summer in order to learn newer and more efficient preparations for yearbook production.

Pep Club

"Fight Comets Fight!" was the battle cry of the forty-two member pep club, which at tourney time, was recognized by white blouses with triangular pennants reading "Go-Go-Go, Comets." Activities included selling car reflectors and tourney pennants.

Having a gab session as they make shakers for the tournament are pep club officers Kay Halt, Sharon Sue Smith, Nancy Brown, and Leota Schrader.

Kay Lynn Coburn gets an early start on her cheerleading career as her sister Susie and Sandy Miller teach her a few of the B team yells.

Linda Lothamer and Diann Mayer help Susie Coburn and Sandy Miller work up new actions for old yells.

Backed Team

Proud looks come across faces of underclassmen as they display their pep club outfits which they wore at the sectional tournament.

Co-operative members form a "C" to help the cheerleaders determine the block set up for the tourney.

Elementary

This is the grade school building where we achieve the basic fundamentals of our twelve year education. Without this primary training any education is very unlikely.

Mr. Howard Hill - Principal

Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Brattain, Mrs. Conine, Mrs. Smith - Cooks.

Mrs. Anderson and Mr. Hill, Principal, discuss the 6th grader's ability to learn things quickly and easily.

The methods of putting the parts of speech over to the 5th graders is the topic of conversation between their teachers; Mrs. Baker and Mr. Bevington.

The two 4th grade teachers; Mrs. Miller and Miss Cooper make a last minute check with each other about the day's spelling quiz.

Mrs. Lowery, Mrs. Jacobson, Mrs. Bacon, and Mrs. Kuehn gather around the desk to look at classroom photos.

Mrs. Impton and Mrs. Koch enjoy the stories in the second grade reader almost as much as their students do.

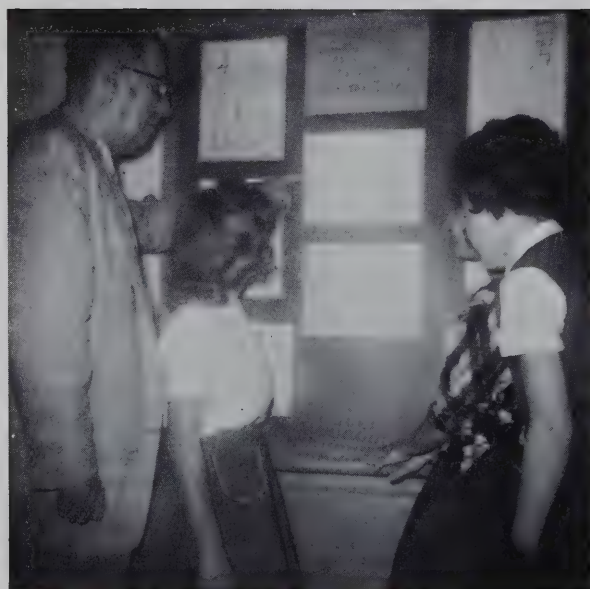

First grade teachers, Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. Platter discuss the bulletin board artwork which the boys and girls had drawn.
